FOREWORD

The theme of this year's "Aurora" is based on the theatre, for 1958-59 has been Harriton's opening year or first night. Thus the first page illustrates this idea of our school's PREMIERE.

The theme is carried out on the endsheets and on the five section-dividers. The faculty have been the directors for this production, while the upperclassmen, as the cast, have occupied the center of the stage. But next year the under-studies, the junior and sophomore classes, will assume the leading roles. Behind the scenes various activities have formed and are included under the heading of backstage. And last, the sports divider pictures the teams as the play's choreographers.

We can only hope that critics will find praise for this performance and those of succeeding casts.

THEODORE COPELAND

Theodore Copeland is the personification of Harriton's pioneer spirit and dynamic enthusiasm. Although he has taught in the Lower Merion District for relatively few years, he is known for his excellence as an educator in the fields of mathematics and psychology. His genuine interest in his students and their problems, as well as his incisive wit and unfailing good humor, has earned him a lasting place in the memories of all his students. The fine work that he began as a soccer coach at Lower Merion High he continued at Harriton, molding a group of energetic boys into a successful varsity soccer team. And not to be forgot is his role as senior class sponsor, guiding the seniors through their year in the limelight at Harriton.

In grateful recognition of his service in developing the minds and characters of Harriton students, the first graduating class of Harriton High School of Lower Merion proudly dedicates the 1959 "Aurora" to Theodore Copeland.

EDGAR WHISTLER

Throughout his twenty-eight years of teaching in Lower Merion Township, Edgar Whistler has won admiration and respect for his distinguished service to the School District. The name of this former chairman of Lower Merion's science department immediately calls to mind the image of a patient and devoted chemistry teacher challenging and guiding his students in scientific experimentation. Through his enthusiasm and expert guidance as a coach of football, baseball, and wrestling, he has encouraged a spirit of determination and sportsmanship which has heightened the prestige of the teams. By initiating wrestling at Harriton, he has contributed to an integral part of the school's athletic program. Continuing the services he performed at Lower Merion, he has assumed the tremendous task of organizing the business and photography staffs of Harriton's first yearbook. His assistance in the visual aids department also merits recognition.

For his inspiration to students and for his many services to both Harriton and Lower Merion, the Class of 1959 is proud to dedicate the 1959 "Aurora" to Edgar Whistler.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To the Class of 1959:

The renown of the Class of 1959 is firmly established. The accident of birth has bestowed upon it the honor of being the first class to be graduated from Harriton High School of Lower Merion, an honor which no subsequent class can diminish or share. The greater honor is the one which its members have worked to win, that of helping to establish the basic traditions of a great school. The Class of 1959 has demonstrated what can be accomplished in an organization whose members are co-operative, enthusiastic, talented, and loyal. The record speaks for itself.

Both the Class and the school will profit, I believe, in the years ahead from the experiences shared in this rather stimulating inaugural year.

Best wishes for its continued success.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Class of 1959 of Harriton High School had set before it a unique opportunity, the responsibility of establishing traditions for a new school. The enormous task of organizing student government, a newspaper, a yearbook, athletic teams, and numerous other student activities was undertaken with enthusiastic determination. Through the initiative and cooperation of both seniors and underclassmen a successful foundation was laid upon which the group may look back with pride and satisfaction.

The class extends best wishes to the Class of 1960 for continued progress in building tradition at Harriton High School of Lower Merion.

JOHN DEIMLER

December 18, 1940 - January 4, 1959

Although John Deimler could not always play the most active part in all school activities, he loved music and devoted his life to it. He was a member of the Chamber Music Club at Lower Merion. Outside of school he played the violin in his church orchestra and in the Youth Orchestra of Greater Philadelphia. John played in the school orchestra so well as a sophomore and junior that he was made Concertmaster in his senior year.

His death leaves an unfortunate gap both in the lives of his friends and in the ranks of solid school citizens.

A pathfinder's role can be stimulating and challenging; however, it can also be marked with great frustration as the yearbook staff learned in its task of selecting a format, a theme, and a title for its 1959 AURORA. The theme was chosen early, but the title remained a non-entity until late in the year. Hampered by the lack of a title, the art staff could not begin by designing the cover; but they were busy drawing endsheets, dividers, and page layouts all during the year. Meanwhile the business staff successfully financed the entire undertaking, without the assistance of any residual funds, by selling advertisements, Christmas candy, and the book itself. The whole staff sponsored a Christmas dance to help raise money. There, too, the members of the photography staff could have been seen carrying their cumbersome equipment.

Although there were difficulties and problems of publication, the work and cooperation of the editors, staff members, and sponsors made possible the 1959 AURORA.

Every other Thursday afternoon, the 4:30 deadline rolled around for the members of the FORUM staff. At that time all copy which had to be rewritten the usual four times, headlined, and typewritten was finally rushed to the printer's before the doors closed. The days prior to deadline were filled with crisis following crisis, and only the wit of the humor writers preserved the sanity of the staff. Many times pages had been completely finished only to have the editor discover that big blank space existed where an article had been withdrawn at the last minute. But the final joy that overcame all crises, panics, and tears was the day the finished product appeared to stimulate, uplift, and enlighten the students of Harriton.

Editors Henderson and Magen seriously study the latest edition.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Accepting the responsibility of being a very vital part of the music education of each student of the Harriton Community, the Orchestra studies the best of all types of music with an endeavor toward appreciation of something good through actual, creative participation. Each member must develop himself to his best possible playing ability with an ultimate goal of improving the entire organization. Among the major programs presented this year were the Annual Christmas Concert, an assembly concert, the Spring Concert, various programs at other schools, and the dedication program at Harriton. The string orchestra gave a demonstration program at the Harrisburg Convention of the Pennsylvania Music Education Association.

The Harriton Band is a unique organization in that it serves the school in a series of important areas. First, it is a military organization with the function of developing exactness, precision, and discipline through military marching during the fall season. It is an integral part of the music department through the thorough study of the best in band literature, concertizing the best and more interesting selections which are studied. The Band ties the entire school together with its music for football games and rallies, developing a wholesome genuine Harriton spirit. The Band sponsors a Harriton assembly concert, concerts at other high and junior high schools, and is an integral part of the Spring and Christmas Concerts and an outdoor concert at the Forum in late spring.

VOCAL MUSIC

The Choir is a musical organization for the purpose of learning new music, refining the familiar, coping with problems of pitch, modifying vowels and consonants to achieve uniformity of color, polishing attacks and releases, listening for balance of parts and generally reaching for ways to translate pages of symbols into living sounds. Its members learn lessons in teamwork and cooperation—bending individual wills to the greater good of the whole—through singing the works of the giants of the musical world, from seventeenth century masters to contemporary composers. Bach, Bortniansky, and Brahms occasionally give way to Leroy Anderson or Richard Rodgers.

The Choir performed at the Christmas Concert, sang assorted concerts in the community for service clubs, churches, a convalescent home, and other schools in the District and neighboring areas.

This year, a second vocal group, the Mixed Chorus, consisted of sophomores and juniors who were unable to schedule Choir. They received training in choral singing of sacred and secular music. They performed in the Christmas Concert, school assemblies, and the Spring Concert.

A beginning has been made in establishing a tradition of presenting fine music by this organization in its role of choral musical ambassadors of Harriton.

Upon seeing Harriton's magnificent stage and lighting system, the members of the National Thespian Society, Mrs. Eva Murphy, and Mr. John Dale wasted no time organizing a dramatic group to take advantage of such wonderful facilities. Those students who had talent in any form of stagecraft or drama became members of The Little Theatre Group of Harriton High School.

The group presented two three act plays and several assembly programs. "Stage Door," its first production, written by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, had a cast of thirty-two, who accomplished a complete scenery change, and played to an audience of seven hundred people.

By sponsoring a dance, the potential Thespians raised money to finance royalties and scenery building. While mastering their use of language, developing poise, self-control, individual talents, and appreciating dramatic literature and its techniques, The Little Theatre Group made dramatics an important part of Harriton's first year.

"Yea Harriton!" is a short phrase signifying that eight young ladies and four young gentlemen were at it again. They were none other than Harriton's cheerleading squad adding color and excitement to the football games. The girls also helped to promote cheers at the basketball games. They exemplified the fine school spirit of Harriton. Besides cheering at sports events, they were the leaders of the pep rallies. The group also sponsored the first Harriton dance last fall. Under the capable leadership of their sponsor, Mrs. Hummer, and their captain, Sharon Miller, the squad developed into an excellent group of experienced and enthusiastic workers.

booster club

The Booster Club, an organization of Harriton Highlanders with membership from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, promoted interest and spirit in athletic games and other school activities throughout the year by making posters, victory ribbons, banners, and rah-rahs, creating cheers, songs, and chants, and selling refreshments at basketball and football games. The group helped with decorations, ticket sales, and publicity for dances and for the Little Theatre production of "Stage Door," selected nominations for a mascot and presented them to the school in an assembly program. Future plans have been laid for the designing and selling of book covers, pennants, and other school accessories. Next year, the Booster Club will have all of the experienced juniors to promote an even better school spirit in the student body.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The opportunity of starting a student council is a unique one. A group of interested students representing all three classes met with Dr. Wolcott. From these meetings evolved a plan for a constitutional convention and a committee of eight, who established the framework for a democratic student council. Elections were held both for officers and representatives, and the Council began to function under the guidance of Miss Easter.

The Council actively supported the foreign exchange program. It undertook such varied tasks as drawing up a new constitution, choosing a school ring, and distributing Christmas cards. But probably its greatest contribution was familiarizing the students with democratic processes and laying the foundations for the student councils to come.

GIRLS' SERVICE LEAGUE

A group of hard-working girls met every week before and after school with one objective in mind—service to their school and their community. Membership in the Service League was determined by the vote of the girls' classmates and the faculty. The league's many activities included the donation of a Thanksgiving dinner to a needy family, a party for the children of the Methodist Orphanage, the sale of "Buzz Books," and the sponsorship of a dance. The girls acted as guides, attended the information desk, and ran the switchboard. Under the leadership and guidance of Miss Taylor, the sponsor, the group has truly earned its title, "Girls' Service League."

Harriton High School's Business Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Easter and Miss Taylor, was first organized in November. Membership in the club is open to all commercial students, and the purpose of the club is to acquaint its members with the business world and office techniques. Through field trips to various business offices, through speakers on personality, appearance, and office standards, and through motion pictures related to business problems, the club increased its understanding of good business methods and practices. The club also enjoyed several social gatherings where fun and the exchange of ideas prevailed.

Under the tutelage of head coach Ned Wilcox, a young Ram eleven, progressing throughout the season, ended its first year of competition with a 1-5-1 record. With only four returning lettermen, inexperience, coupled with some extremely tough competition, cast a shadow over the Highlanders' season, as they went down to defeat in their first four contests. The sun finally broke through when a hard-fought battle resulted in a 6-6 tie with Chester. But, a 26-0 loss to Abington covered it over before it took a permanent place in the sky by virtue of a 12-7 upset of Cheltenham. During the season the team was ably led by captain Tom Littlewood, whose record of seven completions in ten throwing attempts sets him up as the team's leading passer, despite Bob Rice's 13 completions for 151 yards. The outstanding runner of the season was Don Jordan, a fast hard-hitting junior, who collected 351 yards on the ground for a 4.3 average per carry.

Don Jordan and Pete Waitnight were elected captains for the 1959 season.

Coach Theodore Copeland makes presentation of most valuable player award to Captain Tom Harrison.

Catching fire at mid-season, the soccer team went undefeated in its last eight games to finish the season with a successful 6-5-4 log. A young and inexperienced squad, the soccermen took great pride in being the first Harriton team to win in interscholastic competition when they defeated Abington 1-0 in the season's opener. Inexperience quickly came to the fore, however, as the booters went the next six games without a win, before an 8-0 shutout of Chester started them on the road to success.

In tying or defeating every team in the league the Rams tallied 33 times, while holding the opposition to 20 goals. The three returning lettermen, Tom Harrison, Ted Hochreiter, and Joe Miller, were named to the 1958 All-Suburban squad. Captain Harrison's outstanding play also earned him a place on the All-Scholastic squad. Harrison received the most valuable player award, while Tex Bell was awarded the Helveston Cup for the player showing the most improvement.

Playing in a strong Suburban I league, an inexperienced Harriton quintet ended the season with a 4-15 mark. Despite numerous defenses and various offensive patterns, Coach William Fleming's men were completely outclassed by much of their opposition. Because of a well-balanced squad, the starting line-up was switched constantly throughout the year; the final edition consisting of sophomores, Dick Altschuler and Scott Drury; juniors, Joe Miller and Dave Newman; and senior, Captain Tom Harrison. Also starting games at various times during the season were Frank Edwards, Gary Gilgore, Nat Greenfield, Andy Martina, Al Stewart, and Emory Todd. Captain Harrison, carrying the brunt of the scoring lead, averaged 19.3 points per game, setting the school individual scoring record at 36 points. Miller proved Harrison's chief aid in the scoring department with a 9.3 average. A school record, which should stand for some time, was set by Martina, who hit on 85.1 per cent of his foul attempts.

Handicapped by the lack of inter-squad competition and a general shortage of wrestlers, the Harriton matmen turned in a rather poor record of three wins and eight losses. Individually, the outstanding grapplers were junior, Spike Hickman; sophomore, John Jackson; and senior, Captain Tom Littlewood. Taking fourth in the District Championships, Hickman, who was named the team's most outstanding wrestler, was the only Harriton matman to place in a post-season tournament. Captain Littlewood, winner of the most valuable wrestler award and considered the top wrestler in his class in the Suburban I loop, found extreme disappointment when he suffered an elbow injury warming up for the Conestoga match. The injury stopped his undefeated streak at seven and prevented the tricky power wrestler from participating in the post-season tourneys. Losing only two starting wrestlers through graduation, Coaches Harold Ferguson and Edgar Whistler look hopefully to the future.

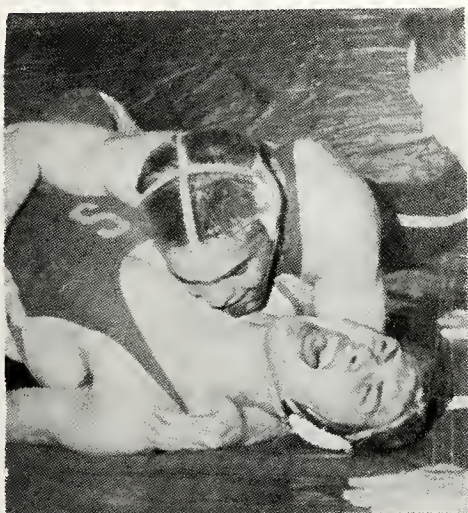

Hickman and Larry Hardham will captain next year's squad.

The girls' swimming team, coached by Harold Spealler, assisted by Marilyn Serff, ended its initial season with a 7-3 record. Two seniors, five juniors, and three sophomores, captained by Cynthianna Hahn, composed the varsity group. Anne Hahn, who contributed 93 points, earned the position of the outstanding swimmer of the season. In the diving spotlight were Mary Dee Parker and Jane Alsop.

The junior varsity swam a season of 5-2, a very good forecast of next year's swimming potential.

Troubled by both inexperience and a shortage of runners, the cross-country team, under Coach John Miller, went without a win in eight contests. Captain Emmett Stafford provided the only bright spot of the season by placing first at the Cheltenham, Plymouth-Whitemarsh, and Upper Darby meets. Next season's prospects for the Harriers look good with seven of the nine team members returning.

With Harriton's only returning L.M. lettermen Tom Harrison and Tom Littlewood, front line hurlers, and with additional mound help from Junior Woody Arnold the mound staff stacked up to be one of the best in the league. Harrison was expected to lead the team hitting in both power and percentage.
